

Burgos, 3rd December 2006

Hi Santa Claus!

I'm Javier. Another year, Christmas is on its way and I'm sitting at my desk and I'm starting to write to you. I'm thinking about what I need this year. Because I have a lot of things, many of them I don't really need.

So this year I want something very special, something unusual and different. I want a new kind of Christmas for all the mankind. This year I want all the people to really have a happy Christmas. I wish that on Christmas Eve all the poor people will have a house, a table and some food to celebrate these special days.

I hope the people these days, before they sit down to the same table for have dinner, apologize to each other and feel happier and more content.

I desire that all children can celebrate Christmas in peace, because the governments decide to finish all the wars in the world.

I want all the children, specially poor ones, to have an special present under their Christmas tree. Because all of them have the right to live, play and laugh with toys.

To achieve all these wishes the help, hope and the hands of all the world is needed. Because it is very difficult to go to poor countries but we can help a lot of people in our town and if we want we can make many people happy at Christmas time.

Thanks for all,

JAVIER RAMOS